Join the Soil and Water Conservation Delegation at the One Water Summit in September, receive registration discount and curated summit experience!

The Soil and Water Conservation Society (SWCS), the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD), and the National Association of State Conservation Agencies (NASCA) invite members and partners to join them as part of the Soil and Water Conservation Delegation at the at the 2022 One Water Summit, September 13-15, 2022, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The One Water Summit is an opportunity for our organizations to connect with stakeholders in the drinking and wastewater sectors about opportunities to collaborate with our members—conservation professionals, districts, and state conservation agencies—who are implementing water solutions through their work on watersheds, working and natural lands, source water protection, and more.

One Water recognizes that an approach to water stewardship that is innovative, inclusive, and integrated is most successful. The One Water Summit includes three days of solutions focused conversations on how the nation can better value and manage water to foster economic prosperity, community wellbeing, and environmental sustainability. Thought provoking workshops, institutes, site visits, and networking opportunities help spark dialogue and peer exchange.

Participants of Soil and Water Conservation Delegation will receive a discounted registration and a curated summit experience that aligns with soil and water conservation issues and opportunities. Together, through our shared summit experience, our delegation will identify and develop new strategies to tackle challenges back home.
